Dear John

RE: Sona Spray

We are pleased to confirm that we have used Sona Spray to good effect in a large sixth form college dining hall in Leicester.

Previously, the hall with its hard, highly reflective surfaces was an uncomfortable space with high noise levels and poor speech quality/intelligibility. The introduction of Sona Spray to the ceiling and certain wall panels has reduced the reverberation times significantly reducing noise levels and improving speech quality. The nature of the material and its application have enabled us to follow and retain the existing plaster moulded features of the ceiling and walls.

The client is sufficiently impressed to use Sona Spray in another space within the College, the main entrance and associated crush hall. Again another space with a high activity and noise level has been rendered a quieter, more pleasant space.

Thanks for your assistance.

Yours sincerely

M. Strangeway
